"No marriage is perfect, that's just a fact of life," admits Hooper. "The issue is that, in the pursuit of perfection, many spouses derail their own marriage by chasing infidelity instead of working through their problems or insecurities. Just look at today's statistics; half of all marriages fail within five years!"

Continuing, "While of course fiction, this book straddles fact to teach couples some very bold and practical lessons about infidelity and other risks to their union. It starts with recognizing, accepting and somewhat embracing each relationship's ups and downs. It will never be perfect, and non-perfect love can still be the most amazing and powerful emotion in the world."

Jason, Jason, Jason I? LOVED the book. I can not wait for book # 2 I was mad at the end when it said TBC!!! I seem to like those two together Grace & Kardale.. maybe it's just the sexual energy that they share. But Grace need to get some help for her other issues. I can't wait to see what Randy is hiding, what did his father do to him or what secret do they share....

Really only 2.5 stars

By buddysgirl1

I hate books with numerous flashbacks and this one had a lot. Just start the story at the beginning when the characters met and make the progression. I HATE FLASHBACKS. Chapter 12-ALL IN was a complete waste of paper. I skimmed through skipping most of it. It was a slow read, no action, no romance, no nothing. Kardale was a punk a for messing with his friends wife. She was no better. At the end of the book, Kardale was still boinking Grace. TO BE CONTINUED... NOT. Don't think I'll buy book 2.
